OVERVIEW

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The 5th National Indigenous Drug and Alcohol Conference (NIDAC18) will be held from 6 – 9 November 2018 in Adelaide, South Australia.

This Conference will consist of a three-day event to be held at the Adelaide Convention Centre from 7 – 9 November as well as a pre-conference workshop at the Stamford Plaza Adelaide on 6 November.

The theme of this Conference, 'Responding to Complexity', acknowledges the range of issues including chronic health problems; injuries from assaults; homelessness; criminal offences and incarceration; and social disruptions including family and cultural breakdown that accompany harmful alcohol and other drug use. Mental health issues are a common comorbidity and, along with the continually challenging nature of alcohol and drugs and their use, means that people presenting to alcohol and drug services typically have complex, multiple needs.

Accordingly, for services to effectively respond to this complexity and restore the physical, social and emotional wellbeing of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people a variety of interventions and supports are required.

The Conference event seeks to explore the complexity and the interventions and supports required to address harmful alcohol and drug use.

ABOUT THE ABORIGINAL DRUG & ALCOHOL COUNCIL SA, HOSTS FOR THE 5TH NATIONAL INDIGENOUS DRUG & ALCOHOL CONFERENCE

The Aboriginal Drug & Alcohol Council (SA) Aboriginal Corporation (ADAC) is proud to host the 5th National Indigenous Drug and Alcohol Conference.

ADAC was initially incorporated in 1993 as the Aboriginal Drug and Alcohol Council (SA) (ADAC) following the Royal Commission into Aboriginal Deaths in Custody (RCIADIC). In South Australia the Aboriginal community from across the state met a number of times to discuss the Findings of the Royal Commission. It was agreed that as the majority of deaths had a drug and or alcohol related component and considering that over 80 of the Recommendations were substance misuse related, that a community controlled response was needed. After considerable discussion it was decided that one way to address the issues was to create a state wide peak substance misuse organisation.

ADAC has since incorporated under ORIC and is now named the Aboriginal Drug & Alcohol Council (SA) Aboriginal Corporation (ADAC).

ADAC now provides a range of drug and alcohol services, include treatment related services.

THE DELEGATES

It is expected that many of the delegates who attend the Conference will predominantly be those who are working to address harmful drug and alcohol use among Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people and within communities. Delegation will include:

- Drug and alcohol workers.
- Health workers and professionals.
- Indigenous professional bodies and other organizations.
- Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Services.
- Alcohol and other drugs representative bodies and stakeholders.
- Education and Training bodies and organizations.
- Researchers.
- Policy makers.
- Law enforcement workers.
- Community representatives.
- Government – Local, State/Territory and Commonwealth.
- Students.
- Other related service providers.

SPONSORSHIP

Sponsorship is sought to cover costs for holding the Conference.

As a key stakeholder, your contribution towards supporting this Conference is a valuable and meaningful way to make a difference to the lives of those affected by harmful alcohol and drug use.

Your department / organisation has an opportunity to support this event by:

- Contributing funding to the event through a selection of sponsorship packages.
- Being a Trade Exhibitor.

There is a range of sponsorship options available to suit you. There is also the flexibility of negotiating a package to suit your needs.

By contributing to this event, the Sponsor or Exhibitor agrees to acknowledge and respect the traditional custodians of the land on which the Conference is being held.

SPONSORSHIP BENEFITS

The 5th National Indigenous Drug and Alcohol Conference will provide sponsors with valuable exposure to a range of culturally specific knowledge, marketing and networking opportunities across Australia. Since the Conference will attract Indigenous people, the alcohol and drug workforce, service providers, health professionals and experts, key stakeholders, government and policy makers, the Conference will enhance excellent learning, skills development and networking opportunities.

Organisations sponsoring the Conference or the workers attending the Conference can take advantage of:

- The demonstration of your involvement, ongoing commitment and support to addressing harmful alcohol and drug use among Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people.
- Establishing and maintaining a prominent profile nationally across key government agencies, service providers and stakeholders and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander alcohol and drug, and health networks.
- Networking with leading alcohol and drug leaders, professionals and experts, service providers and policy makers.
- Access to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander specific and culturally secure knowledge, practices and innovations.
- Access to leading professionals and authorities in the Indigenous alcohol and drug field.
- The opportunity to increase the capacity of the workforce to address harmful Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander alcohol and drug use and its associated harm.
- The event attracting extensive media coverage nationally.
- Pre and post Conference promotional and marketing opportunities.
- The opportunity to launch new initiatives and services.

PROMOTIONAL OPPORTUNITIES

The 5th National Indigenous Drug and Alcohol Conference offers exposure to a large and targeted audience within the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander alcohol and drug field through the following opportunities:
